PREFACE

Every effort has been made to get maximum correct information for this brochure, but mistakes are inevitable. They cannot be corrected in this issue, but in the following annuals, which I hope can and will be published dedicating each to some individual who has brought honor to the name of BROOKS, they can be.

WILLIAM DONLEY BROOKS

I wish to dedicate this brochure to my father, William Donley Brooks, known to many as writer of "Forty Years in Wayne County," a weekly column in Piedmont Journal-Banner. To others, as an honest, religious man. To himself, expressed in his own words, "a person who will leave nothing for the world to remember that I have ever lived, except my writings and my children." To me, he is just Dad.

WILLIAM DONLEY BROOKS

Autobiography

I was born June 10, 1880, the third child of Isaac L. and Mary Rowena Thornburgh Brooks, in a cabin on the old McGhee farm.

This farm was located about two and one-half miles from Patterson, Missouri. At the ages of seven and eight, while living at Smith's Mill, I attended school irregularly, as it was too far to walk to Cherry Grove. But after moving to Patterson in 1889 I went regularly. My first teacher there was Mrs. Patterson. I was 17 when I finished my schooling, then I began to make a regular hand in father's blacksmith shop, which I had grown-up in. I put on the first horse shoes when I was 15 but shod daily after I became 18 years old and continued to do so to 1920.

I went to most of the social events for several miles around on one of our best saddle horses and visited kin and friends often. I did most of my courting by use of horse and saddle, from 1898 to 1905. But I did not go with nor have many regular girl friends, as I was very timid.

After Father's eyes became afflicted in 1899 he moved to his farm and left me in charge of the shop. Sister Ruth kept house for me in the house opposite the shop.

About January, 1901, J. R. (Dick) Croy bought a half interest in the tools and material in the shop and boarded with us. Dick and I were together day and night for four years.

On December 23, 1903, I made a visit to relatives in St. Louis, Missouri, and Marine, Illinois, spending both Christmas and New Year, returning home on January 4, 1904.

In August, 1904, with Sisters Ruth and Stella, I attended the World's Fair in St. Louis for several days, and again visited at Marine, Illinois.

After making these trips I wasn't so timid and began to be more lively with the girls.

On the evening of February 29, 1904, Eunice Fulton, who lived two miles north of Patterson, gave a Leap Year birthday party. Among many others at this party were two girls I had known all my life. They were neighbors and attended the same school and were inseparable. One was Ada Cline, the other Luna Meador. I offered to take them home. I thought Luna was going to spend the night with Ada. We hadn't gone far through the snow and slush on horseback until Luna galloped off and left us. I rode to the Cline farm with Ada. After putting her horse up and saying good night, I galloped back to my home in Patterson.

On Easter Sunday, 1904, I went with a party to the McFadden Springs at the foot of the mountain. We walked up the mountain carrying the lunch, including boiled eggs. That evening I went home with Ada and from that time on I called regularly on Sundays.

Ada Jane Cline (b 11/7/1883) and I were married in Greenville on September 20, 1905, by John Collins, a Baptist minister, at the home of Sam Freeman.

We drove the buggy I had rented for the occasion to the home of the bride and had supper. Afterwards we drove to my home in Patterson, which I had put in readiness, and were met there by several young married couples.

I remained in partnership with J. R. Croy until August, 1912. By that time we had three children each.

After selling my interest to Dick, I entered the mercantile business with my brother-in-law Ed Cline in Patterson. In 1914 I sold my interest in the store to Ed and was out of business until the Spring of 1915.

In August, 1914, I visited with my sister Sadie in Western Colorado and worked in shops two or three weeks. I returned home on October 27.

In April, 1915, I rented our home in Patterson and moved to a cross-road business three miles west of Harvel, Missouri, entering a partnership with Wm. Bailey in a store, shop and feed mill. This business was divided in August, 1916, and I took the shop, moving it to Greenville. My brother Millard and I rented the old red livery barn near the river, tore out the stalls and started the first garage to be in Greenville. This was in April, 1917.

Millard was called into service, World War I, and I hired a mechanic to carry on the garage work.

Soon after that time the branch railroad to Williamsville was taken out and there was no transportation out. So I entered a partnership with Bill Huggins in both shop and garage, and put three Ford cars into taxi service between Williamsville and Greenville.

About October, 1919, we sold the garage and the shop, and before the end of the year we sold the taxi business.

I got a job with Campbell Iron Company of St. Louis as a drummer. I was to travel the northern part of Arkansas, to begin June 1, 1920.

I moved my wife and five children to Searcy, Arkansas, on April 20, 1920. We lived in Kinsett, Arkansas, in 1922 and 1923, then moved back to Searcy in the summer of 1923, where we lived till January 1, 1929. We moved then to Heber Springs, Arkansas, living there until July, 1931, when we moved to Conway, Ark.

On March 11, 1930, my oldest son Raymond died suddenly. We took his body back to Patterson for burial.

In 1933 the company I worked for went bankrupt. So I, like many others, was unemployed for the first time in my life. I went back to Missouri and operated my father's shop in Brunot from July, 1933, to August, 1934.

I worked in numerous shops over Arkansas in 1935-36. In November, 1936, I obtained tools and opened a shop and implement repairs business in Conway, Ark.

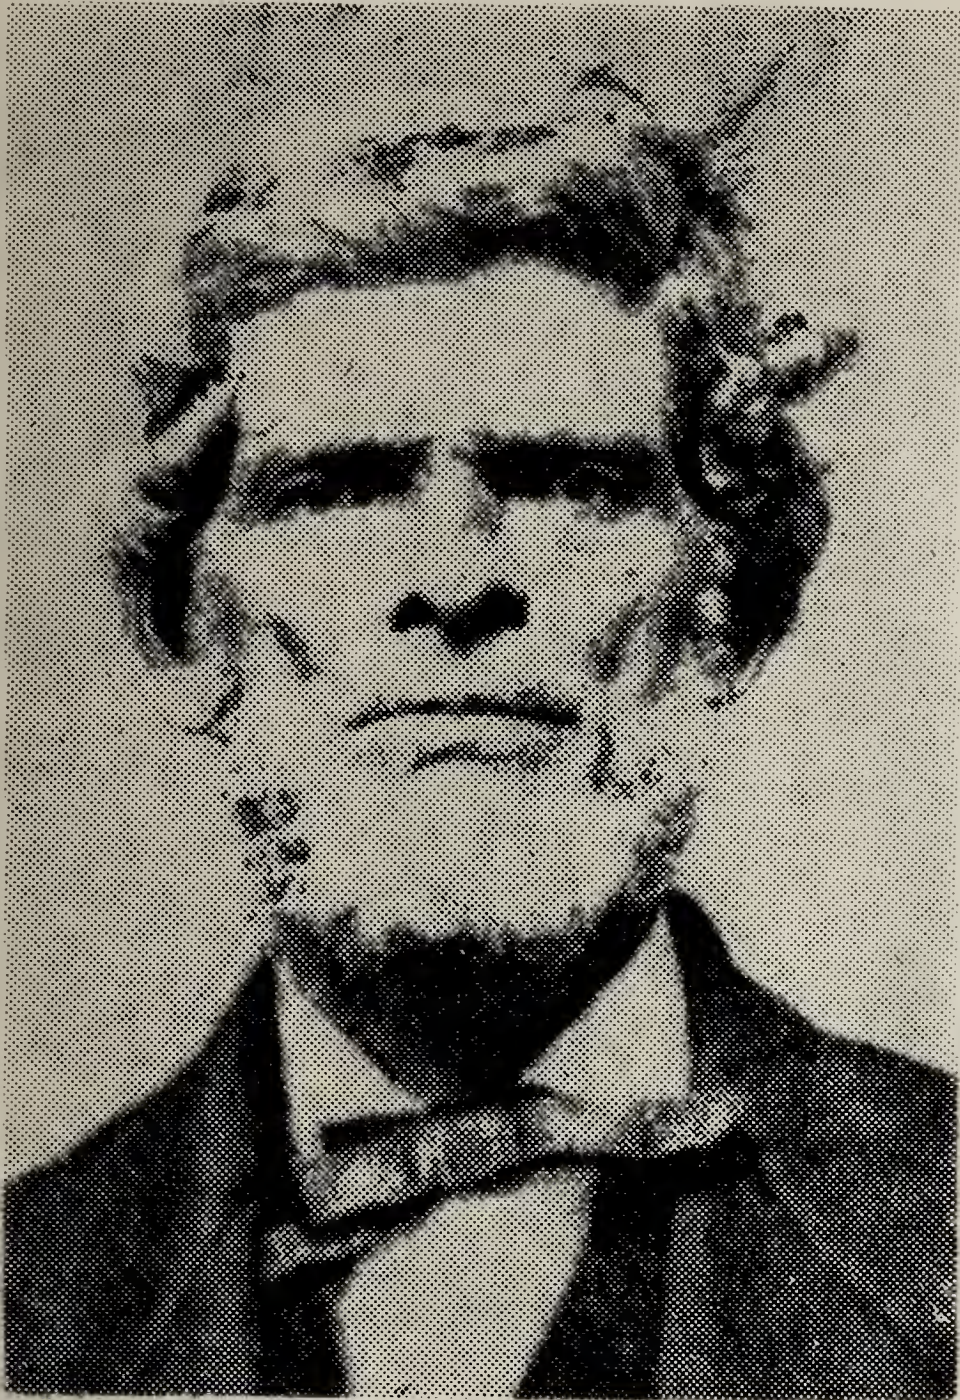

In August, 1937, I was divorced by Ada.

On July 6, 1941, I married Beulah McDowell, a widow, who was a native of Russellville, Arkansas. Beulah passed away on January 19, 1951.

At 74 I work daily, except Sunday, at my shop. Each Sunday I attend Sunday School and church at the Church of Christ, in which I have been enrolled for the past fifteen years. Like my forefathers I have been a lifelong Democrat.

For a hobby I reminisce in a weekly news-column printed in the Piedmont, Mo., Journal-Banner, in an article on people and happenings of the past, or "Forty Years in Wayne County." To my knowledge I am the oldest descendant of Martin Brooks carrying the name of Brooks.

MARTIN BROOKS

(Records from the Martin Brooks family Bible, tradition as handed down by Isaac Brooks and Donley Brooks, memories of Wm. Redford, records in Court House, Edwardsville, Ill.)

Martin Brooks was born on February 16, 1812, probably in State of Massachusetts, but as a small lad moved with his family to Virginia in that territory between the Big Kinawa and Little Kinawa rivers, now a part of West Virginia.

His mother died when he and his sister Susan were young. His father remarried and some time after 1830 moved either to Tennessee or Kentucky. There were several children by this second marriage.

Martin worked his way down the Ohio on a raft and came to St. Louis prior to 1838. Sometime later he came by wagon, with a family named Blankenship, to Marine, Illinois.

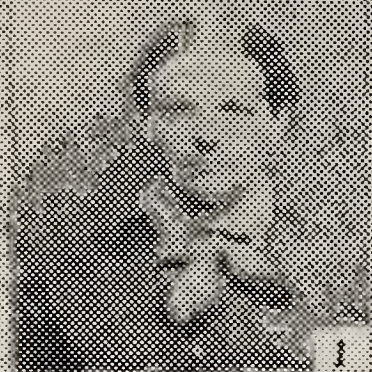

On February 11, 1841, he married Lena Margaret Weatherby (b 8/19/1822) (d 8/10/1891) daughter of Isaac Weatherby, who lived on a farm near Saline (Grantfork) Illinois. Sometime prior to 1840 she came to Illinois with her family, by covered wagon, from Coolville, Athens County, Ohio. Martin and Lena rented a farm until 1848 when they bought 102 acres in Deck's Prairie. In 1850 he bought an additional 80 acres. Later he sold these properties and on August 12, 1851, he purchased 120 acres. That was the beginning of the Brooks homestead of 245 acres located on the Marine-Grantfork road, a stage coach route. (This home still stands and is pictured elsewhere in this brochure). Susan was the first child born there.

At this time Martin and Margaret were members of the Baptist congregation, which met in the Seibert school house. They and their children later were baptised into the Christian faith (Disciples of Christ).

Thirteen children were born to this union.

In the summer of 1885 Martin made his last visit to Wayne County to see those of his children who had settled there. At 73 he was nearly blind and very feeble.

Martin Brooks, a Northern Democrat, died at his home two miles north of Marine, Illinois, on September 29, 1885. Both he and Margaret are buried in Mundis Cemetery on the Marine-Grantfork road.

ISAAC LOUIS BROOKS

A Biography by a son, W. D. Brooks

Isaac Louis Brooks was born December 10, 1854, on a farm two miles north-east of Marine, Illinois. The eighth child of Martin Brooks. In early youth he became his father's "blacksmith boy" doing the repair work until he was twenty years of age. During that time he attended school at district school, then in Marine.

As a lad Isaac spent many hours studying his Bible and was "prized" for being able to quote an entire chapter.

At the age of two and one-half years Isaac was taken by his mother to a neighborhood quilting. A neighbor, Sarah Thornburgh was there with her six months old daughter, Mary Rowena. Isaac sat down upon a pallet beside Mary Rowena and bit her big toe. Several years later when she became his wife Isaac said that he branded her as his own at the age of six months.

When Mary Rowena Thornburgh, (b 5/12/1857) (d 7/29/1931) was ten years old her parents moved to Missouri. At the age of seventeen she returned to Illinois to stay with her Grandma Crandell. It was at this time that Isaac began to court her.

They were both baptized (1/1/1872) and joined the Christian Church in Marine which Isaac helped build the year before.

In September 1874 Mary Rowena returned to the home of her parents near Patterson to make preparations to wed. In December "Ike", as he was now called, came to Missouri after his bride. They were married December 23, 1874.

The bride and groom returned to and made their home with his parents. Around October 1, 1878, they moved to Wayne county and settled on the McGhee farm. By this time there were two children, Sara Rowena and Martin Louis. On July 25, 1879, Baby Martin Louis died.

In the spring of 1882 they moved to the Robin Bennett farm. In '87 and '88 Ike worked and lived at Smith's Mill on Lake Creek, then moved back to the farm and worked as a blacksmith for J. I. Payton in Patterson.

In November, 1889, he bought a half-interest in the shop from Mr. Payton and moved his family to Patterson.

Between 1878 and 1890 two sons, Wm. D. and Eli, and two daughters, Ruth and Estella were born. In 1891 a daughter Virgia was born in the new home Ike had built on Lot 13 across the street from the shop.

In 1892 Ike purchased the remaining interest in the shop from Mr. Payton, including the real estate, and the Payton home on Lot 12. This house was larger, so he moved his family into it.

Three sons were born there—Millard in '93, Charles in '96, and Fred in '98. Also a daughter Mary Ethel b3/22/1895) (d 7/24/1895).

Since coming to Wayne County, I. L. as he was now called, was active in church work. He served as superintendent of Sunday School and in December 1895 he was ordained as an Elder at Peach Tree Fork Church during a co-operative meeting. He soon gave up Sunday School work and began to go to various country churches and school houses, often on a Sunday he preached three sermons in three different communities.

In 1899 I. L. began having trouble with his eyes. In 1901 he moved to a farm on Camps Creek. On December 27, 1902, a baby girl was born (Merle Kathleen) but did not live.

I. L. sold the shop to J. R. Croy and his eldest son, Wm. Donley, and the shop name was changed from I. L. Brooks & Company to Brooks and Croy.

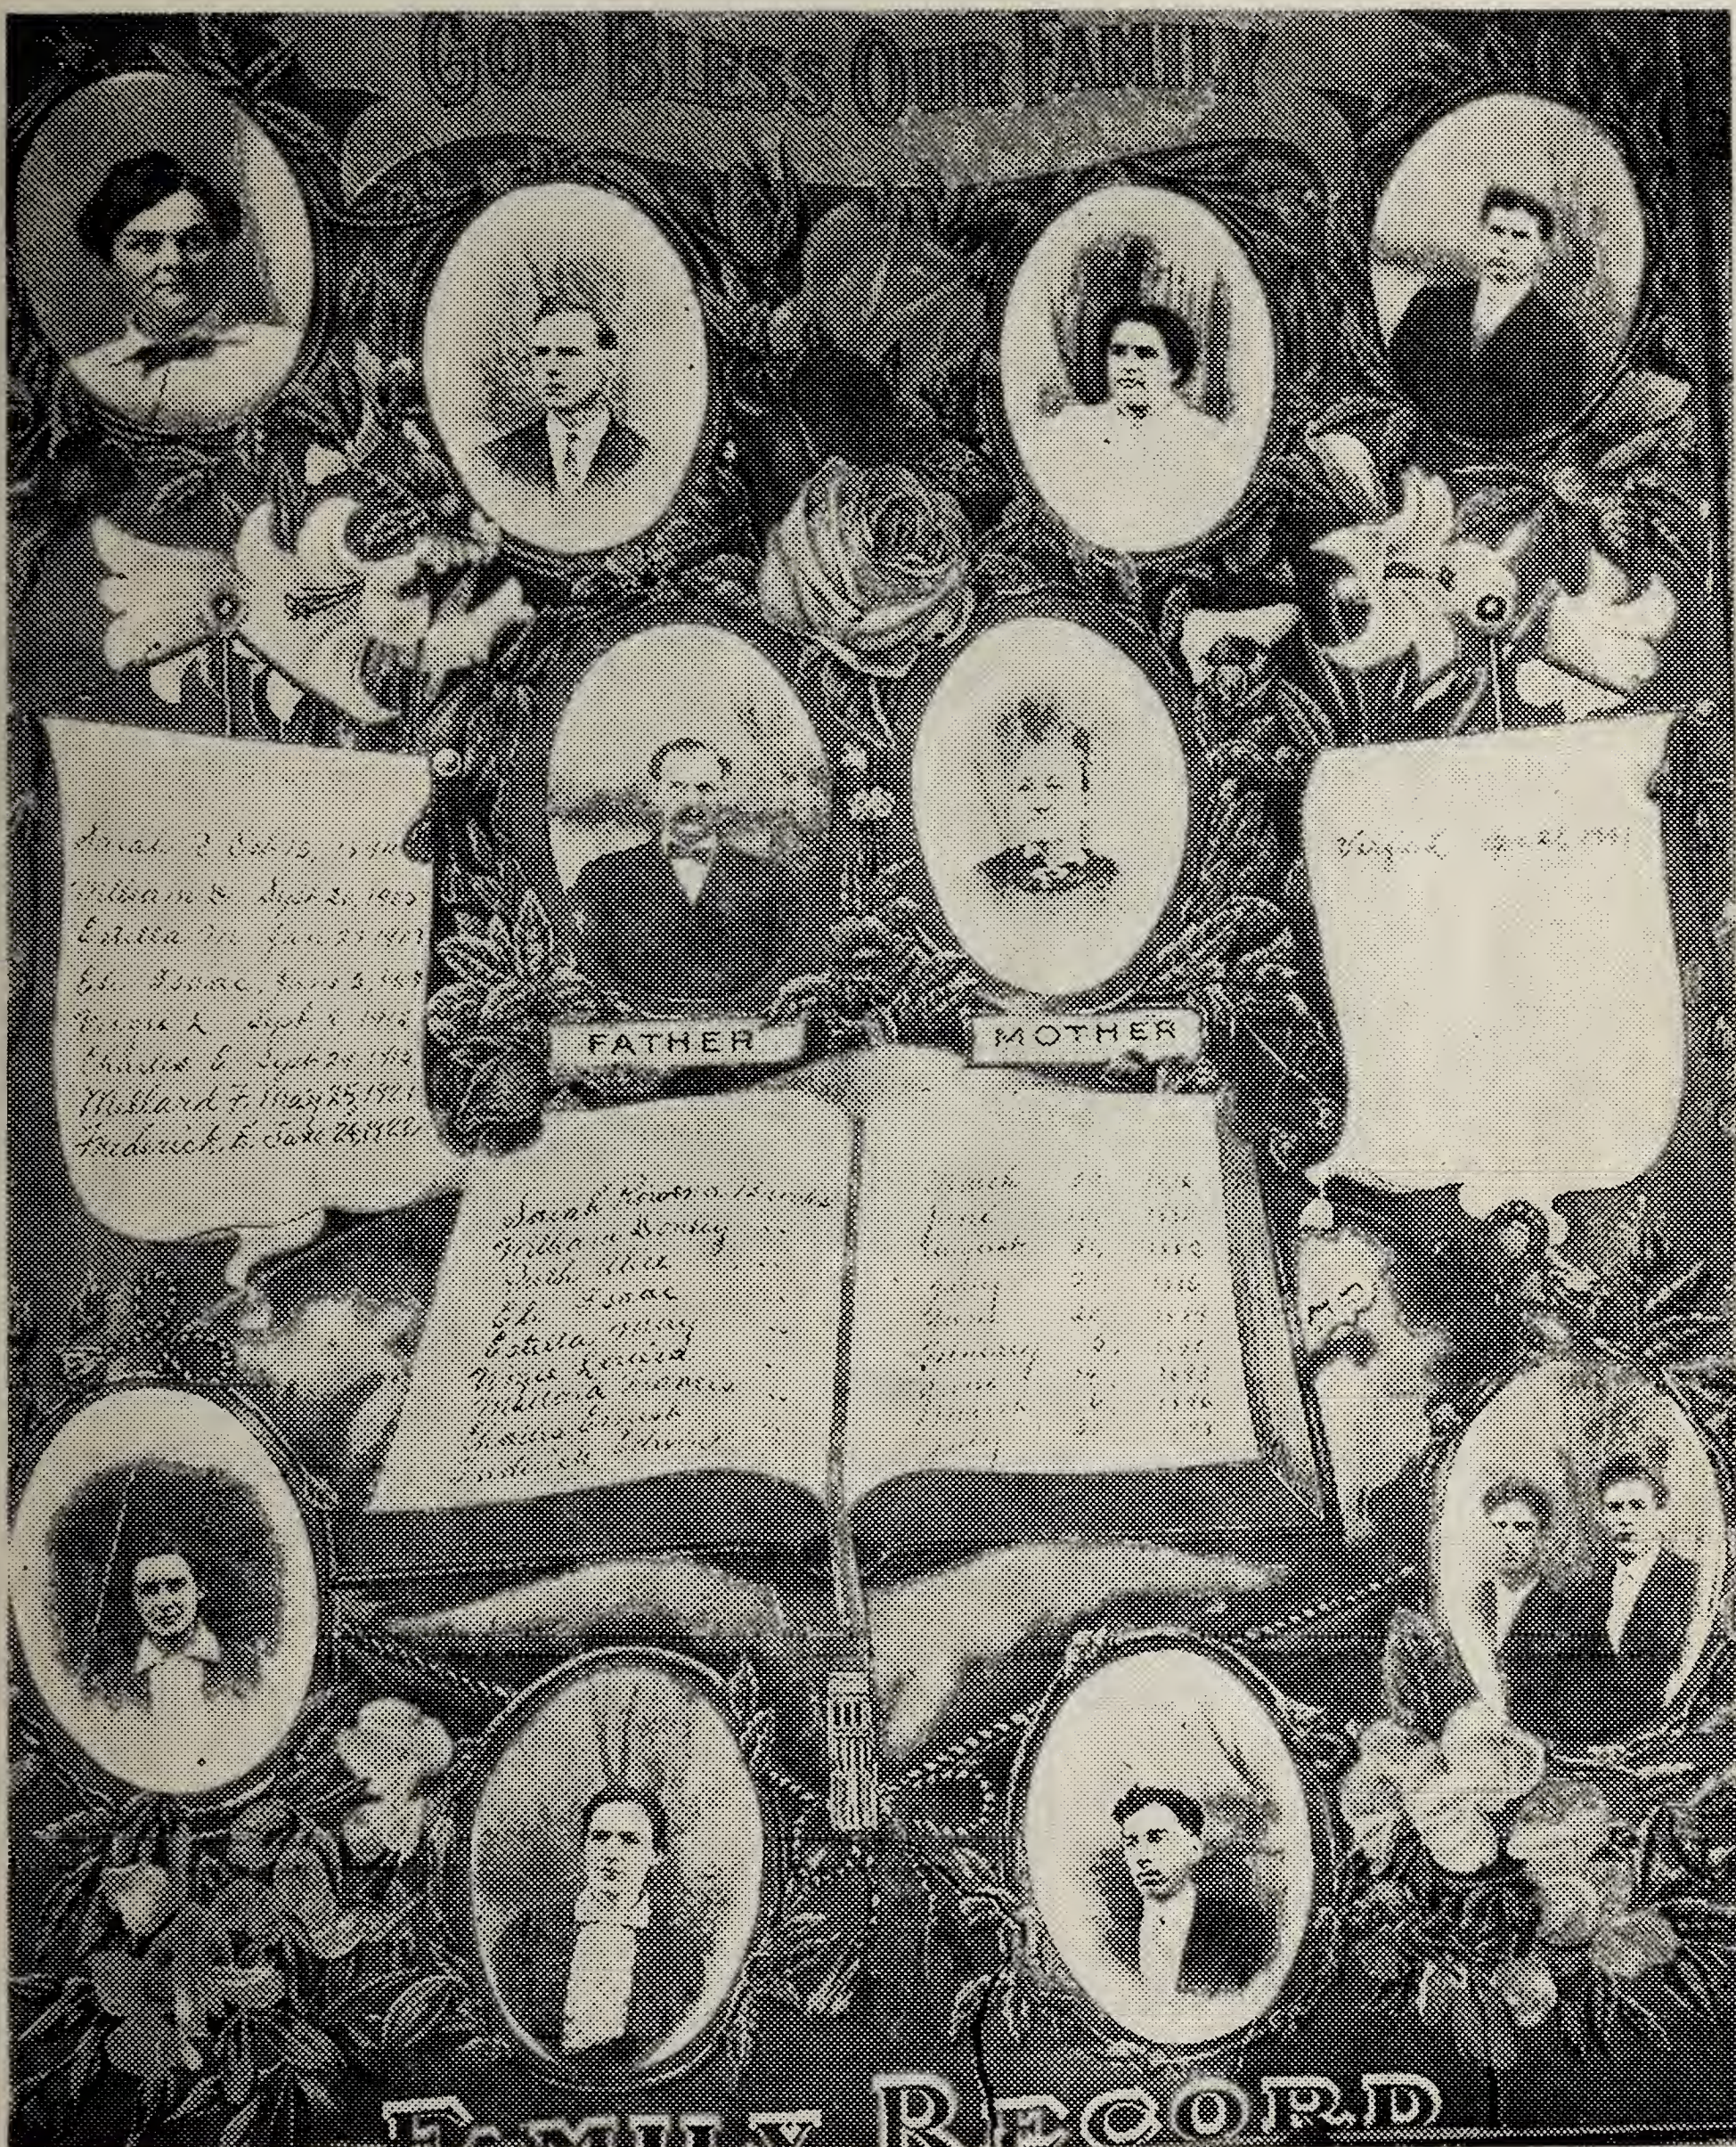

In 1909 I. L. moved to Brunot, where he bought property and built a new shop and a grist mill, which he operated until the time of his death.

During the entire period of his ministry, he received only a "free-will" offering, and always made his living expenses in his blacksmith shop.

After nearly forty years as a "circuit-rider" preacher he preached his last sermon in his home church at Brunot in 1933.

On March 24, 1934, he went through transition and his body was laid to rest in the Cemetery at Patterson.

The Village Smithy was a mighty man, at the forge, or in the pulpit.

DONLEY AMOS BROOKS

(Biography by Edna Brooks Schwarz)

Donley, my father, the thirteenth child of Martin and Lena (Weatherby) Brooks, was born March 19, 1866, in the vicinity of Marine, Illinois. At the age of sixteen years he was six feet tall, dark complexion, brown eyes, dark wavy hair, and weighed about two hundred pounds.

On December 17, 1888, he was united in marriage to Miss Hettie Woods, daughter of Dr. James M. Woods of Patterson, Missouri. To this union seven children were born. (Errett, Myrtle, Mable, Edith, Ethel, Edna and Florence).

Like all of the Brooks he had a great love of the land and added several parcels of ground to the farm which he bought from the Martin Brooks heirs, after his marriage.

He was active in church affairs and with his family attended the Christian Church and Sunday School regularly.

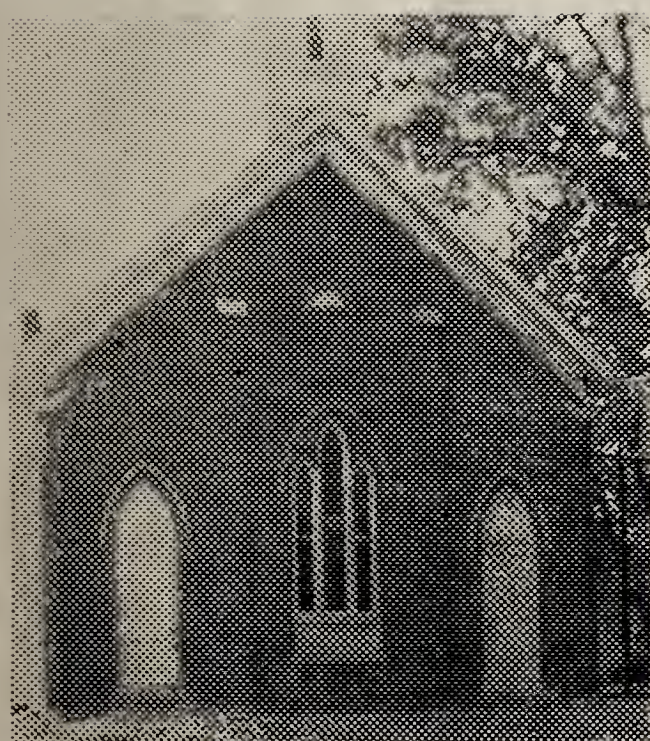

Until he moved to Marine in 1911 he was an active dairy farmer. For many years he was president of Southern Illinois Milk Producers Association, the first organization of dairymen to deal collectively with St. Louis distributors. He served his community as school director, highway commissioner, and assessor. His was a forceful dynamic personality. Generous by nature, he was a good father, friend and neighbor.

Donley Amos Brooks died at his home in Marine, Illinois, on August 20, 1942. Interment was in Marine City Cemetery.

CUZINS DAY

In 1950 a group of the descendants of Isaac L. Brooks met in Baker State Park, near the Village of Patterson, Wayne County, Missouri.

This get-together had for its purpose the desire on the part of several of the Grandchildren to keep contact with their kin.

Nellie Moffitt and Lorraine Hovis Kipp are credited with instigating the first picnic as well as the one held in 1951. But for the past two years the success of the outings was the result of diligent work on the part of Winfred "Casey" Brooks. He has acted as "Secretary" and contacted as many of the cousins as possible, encouraging them to attend.

Besides the exchanging of greetings, news and tall-tales, each family brings good things to eat. This basket dinner is enjoyed especially by the girls who have an opportunity to eat someone else's cooking. To others of us, a chance to eat our fill of good food. Games are played and enjoyed by some, but others of us try to "out-do" our Cuzins by weaving fantastic stories. Those of us that cannot win in this contest use the Brooks technique and just talk louder than our Cuzins.

Anyway, in Brooks fashion, there will be many conversations going at once, and usually the participants are across the circle from each other. But apparently no one misses any of any other person's conversation. A feat that I doubt can be accomplished outside of Brooks descendants.

Winfred Brooks and wife Hazel with their two daughters, Joan and Marjorie; Hazel Weier, husband Ralph, children Wayne and Janet; Vernon Brooks, and wife Agnes and sons, Michael and James have a perfect attendance record, having been present at all four jamborees.

Dick Croy, our adopted Cuzin whom we have known all our lives, has been present at most of the meetings, to welcome all of the Cuzins back to Wayne county.

Ada Jane (Cline) Brooks, although not a descendant, is the mother and grandmother of eleven Brooks descendants, and has "carried" the name of Brooks for almost fifty years, is a familiar figure at Cuzins day.

Many others, aunts, uncles and friends make a welcomed appearance each year on the last Sunday of July at "Cuzins Day."

Home of Isaac Brooks in Brunot, now owned by his daughter Ruth.

The Christian Church, Brunot, Missouri, where Isaac L. Brooks preached for many years.

Our aunt Ruth and her maternal aunt Lou Thornburgh, 87 years young, the invalid with a sunny disposition after 68 years in a wheel chair. These two girls deserve a medal.

LIFE

by Estella Brooks Henson

Generations come and go, and Others take their place
The World moves on, and Father Time
Sets a rapid pace.

Life mysterious tho it be
God gives and takes away.
A few short years are lent to us
Oh! how can we repay.

In deeds of righteousness, or sin
We have the choice to make;
With our record written there,
Forgive us, for Thy sake.

When we shall meet around the throne
What a gathering it will be,
When those we loved and lost are there,
Beside the Crystal Sea.

Tis said; we'll know as we are known
Our Savior too, will see.
When we have crossed the Great Divide
LIFE then will be ETERNALLY.
